

Inspection visit to the care home of SA Narva-Jõesuu Hooldekodu

On 16 August 2015, the Chancellor of Justice went on an unannounced follow-up inspection visit to the care home of SA Narva-Jõesuu Hooldekodu. The last time that advisers to the Chancellor of Justice inspected the care home was on 2 December 2014 and 8 December 2014, when suspicion arose that the freedom of clients in the department for persons with psychiatric disorders might have been restricted groundlessly.

During the follow-up inspection visit, advisers visited the premises of the department for clients with mental disorders and interviewed a staff member of the department during the tour. Furthermore, advisers to the Chancellor of Justice interviewed five people receiving the services.

To the extent of the inspection during the follow-up inspection visit, the Chancellor of Justice observed no infringements of the fundamental rights or freedoms of persons at the care home of SA Narva-Jõesuu Hooldekodu.
